

MasterMover®

New Zealand Electric Tug Solutions

What could we move for you?

Benefits For The Food And Beverage Industry

- Dramatic reduction in manual handling
- Moving production machinery off line becomes very quick, easy and safe
- Quick and easy movement of ingredients, machines and finished products
- Reduces damage to plant by giving the operator complete control over heavy loads.
- Small footprint of the machines makes them ideal for use in food production environments.
- Ideally suited to operating in wet environments
- No operator license required

Food And Beverage Tow Tugs

With heavy load weights to move and restricted space the food and beverage industry is an ideal environment for MasterMover. Stainless steel options are available and with IP rating the machines perform well in wet areas. The MasterMover has a standard and bespoke coupling system so it can be used with almost any mobile equipment in the food sector.
